Editorial Celebrations

By Diane Piggott

The fourth of July is a time of celebration. Many will fire up grills and turn on ovens to make a smorgasbord of delicious foods. Families and friends will gather to recall moments of pleasures and pains. These moments seem to boost our self-worth or propel us on to happiness in the future.

I will be celebrating with family during this holiday. It is a time where I reconnect with many family members that I have not spent a lot of time with during the year. I will make new memories that will serve to mark future events. We use holidays as the mile markers for our lives. We make comments like, "remember when we were at the reunion in 2010." We may not remember day-to-day operations, but it's something about holidays that adds an excitement to life's events.

Unfortunately, we are saddened by holidays. We will reminisce that Uncle Joe or Aunt Mary is not here this year. Or we may miss our Mom, dad, spouse or sibling if they are no longer with us. Memories of past celebrations will sometimes dampen our spirits.

My wish for you is to have a great 4th! Enjoy the time with family and friends. Watch the heat situation and don't overdo!

Sunday School Views Power Up

This study is about God's choosing David to be king. Adults need to be reminded that God empowers His people to face the most intense challenges of life.

- The first lesson shows how God allowed Israel to have a king but retained His sovereignty.
- The second lesson, based on the well-know encounter of David and Goliath, depicts the power of courage.
- The third lesson is about David seeking God's will as he fled before Saul.
- The fourth lesson is about David sparing Saul's life twice.

July 11th—"The Power of Courage"—I Samuel 17:8-11, 32-39, 45-47

July 18th—"The Power of Petition"—I Samuel 22:17-20, 23:1-6, 9-13

Youth Corner

(See Escada's photo in Column 2) Success Begins in 2010

By Escada S. Horton

This month I have been given the task to present my reflections on the Youth Ministry's current theme: SUCCESS BEGINS IN 2010.

The theme seems to indicate that if young people want to be successful in life there is an immediate need to get started and get started NOW! In other words, I think the purpose of the theme is to instill a sense of urgency in us—the youth of New Bethel.

Now I don't know about you all but to me this seems somewhat counter intuitive because most people realize that teenagers are about the last group to feel a sense of urgency about anything. However, I also realize that my church family would never steer me or any other youth in the wrong direction because they love us and want us to live happy and successful lives.

So if we need to get started on our paths to success right now let's consider some factors and some barriers of success.

One key factor to success is to be committed. When you are committed to something chances are you will be loyal and dedicated. So whatever it is you desire to be successful at whether it is in your studies, at your job, or in your relationships with people, show that you are committed.

Another important factor to success is to stay positive. One of the easiest ways to stay positive is to surround yourself with positive people. This one should be pretty easy because face it, who needs or even wants to be around negative people anyway? They just want to bring the rest of the world down with them.

The last important factor I want to mention is persistence. Success doesn't come easy. And most successful people knew failure before they knew success but they kept with it and persevered.

A Surprise For Piggott

By Lisa Myers

Surprise rang out as the birthday girl entered the room. Diane Piggott celebrated her 60th birthday surrounded by family and friends on Tuesday, June 15 at the Piedmont Club. Her husband, Dan Piggott, escorted her.

As Diane circled the room, the phone rang. It was her youngest son, Darryl on the other end. She assumed that he was in California and was just calling to wish her a happy birthday. In actuality, he was walking up behind her. He approached and she screamed, "OOOOH!" She was filled with joy as her birthday was complete with all of her immediate family present along with her friends.

Diane's immediate family—Dan, Danny, Dionne and Darryl spoke of her many virtues. They told of how she was a loving, patient and caring woman. She taught them the true meaning of love. Mrs. Ruth Bell, her mom, her sisters—Mary B. Kendall and Sadie B. Woods and a few others spoke of her loving nature and inner beauty.

Delicious food was an added pleasure to the special gala. The menu consisted of shrimp cocktail, tossed salad, pasta salad, steamed broccoli, creamed potatoes, fried chicken, roast beef and fruit cobbler.

Little master Daniel Piggott, III, her grandson, led in singing the birthday song. The room was full of love and well wishes. Everyone enjoyed birthday cake.

She states that there is joy in serving and caring as she embarks in undertaking the position of President of the Senior Missionary Department. One of her greatest joys has been to be of service to mankind without thinking of how long it takes to do what is needed, but do all you can while needed.

Ms. Cain's other church affiliations include serving as Assistant Church Clerk, member of the Journalistic Society/Spotlight Staff, Sunday School Class, Youth Ministries, Vacation Bible School and Acting Secretary of the New Members Class.

She enjoys writing, and though not as much as her other activities, she almost made a perfect score on the state writing test; she was just one point away.

Although Alexis is not really sure what she would like to study when she goes to college, as her aspirations tend to change daily, she does know that her main goal as of right now is to get her license and a new car before the summer ends.
